Frank Lindsay Alberta Bantam Training Camp

Alberta Golf will be hosting the fourth annual Frank Lindsay Alberta Bantam Camp June 9th and 10th in Calgary. Alberta has selected 10 Bantam Competitors from last years Championship at the Nanton Golf course to attend this training opportunity.

Alberta Golf Coach, Randy Robb will play a lead role at the camp assisted by Jason Haley of the RCGA Learning Centre. This camp has been designed to offer an experience of provincial level coaching for this younger age group. Brad Thompson who has completed his second year at Mississippi State University will also lend a helping hand at the bantam camp through post secondary discussions, tournament preparation and competitive play.

The Bantam competitors will be at The RCGA Learning Centre and Inglewood GCC for day one, Inglewood will be hosting the Bantam Championship this year and this is a great chance for these competitors to get out and see the course. On day two will see the group head out to The Valley Ridge Golf Course effective practice sessions and on course competitions with Valley Ridge hosting the Junior Qualifying for the Calgary region. The Bantam Camp allows top-level golfers the opportunity to develop many of the technical and non-technical skills of golf, which are vital to gain an edge in provincial, national and international competition. The 2009 Frank Lindsay Bantam Championship will be hosted by The Inglewood Golf Course. For more information on this championship or to register please go to the Alberta Golf Website at www.albertagolf.org.
